Concept Note:

Education has always been the most powerful tool of social change from ages. The National Education Policy-2020 envisages a great social change marked by the transformation in the education system focusing on the agendas of quality, equity, accessibility, opportunity, skill and vocational education.

Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav is an initiative of the Government of India to celebrate and commemorate 75 years of progressive Independent India. Through Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav India is celebrating the glorious history of its people, culture and achievements. It is an embodiment of all that is progressive about India's socio-cultural, political and economic identity. The Amrit Mahotsav of Azadi represents the elixir of inspiration from the freedom fight. The elixir of freedom means the elixir of new ideas, the elixir of new resolutions, the elixir of freedom which is a festival in itself i.e., the elixir of self-reliance. Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav is dedicated to the people of India who have been instrumental in bringing India far through the evolutionary journey and holds within them the potential to realize India 2.0, the vision of our Prime Minister Modi. India 2.0 is a vision of a futuristic country in the process of development in every walk of life. Toady also, India's impression on world map is unquestionable.

Nagaland is one of the seven northeast states and is located in India's farthest east side. It is a land engulfed in mystery, inhabited by vibrant people guarding their culture – dancers, warriors, mountains, valleys and forests. Spirits, fertility, social bonding and purification are the key elements that form the essence of the Nagaland. Each tribe has its own language and cultural traditions. The custom that each tribe follows translates into a festival. Handicrafts come naturally to the Nagas – master craftsmen can create anything from a small paper knife to large and trendy pieces of furniture using cane and bamboo. In short, the Nagaland state in itself is an example of Unity in Diversity. With a high literacy rate, it is one of the state with growing educational needs.

In a static society, the main function of the educational system is to transmit the cultural heritage to the new generations. But in a changing society, these keep on changing from generation to generation. The educational system in a society must transmit the cultural heritage and aid in preparing the young for adjustment to any changes in them that may have occurred or are likely to occur in the future. Thus, the relationship between the educational system and society is mutual; sometimes the society influences changes in the educational system and vice versa. Upcoming seminar will try to develop an understanding of the education system in India during this present scenario and the role of education in the development of society. So, the seminar will significantly contribute in amalgamation of NEP-2020 with its present education system and same time pave the path for the future.
