

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

The two-day workshop and brainstorming session will focus on Natural Language Processing, specifically concerning the Indigenous languages of North-east India.

The outcomes of this workshop will include:

- The formation of a consortium consisting of faculty members from NU, ISI Kolkata, Tezpur University and NIT Nagaland, aimed at proposing research on Natural Language Processing (NLP) for North-East Indian Languages, with a particular focus on Naga languages.
- The preparation and submission of project proposals to various project funding agencies such as North Eastern Council (NEC), Department of Science & Technology (DST), and Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY).
- Research scholars from NU and NIT Nagaland will have the opportunity to pursue Ph.D. work on these research areas.
- B.Tech and M.Tech students will be able to undertake project work in these fields.
- Guidelines for the consortium will be established during the workshop.
